PACK TM PRINTEX

Industry Overview

India's printing and packaging industry is a significant and rapidly growing sector, driven by surging e-commerce, pharmaceuticals, and FMCG demands. Valued in the tens of billions of dollars, the industry is a critical part of the Indian economy, supporting a vast network of small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) and large corporations. Key growth drivers include rising disposable incomes, evolving consumer lifestyles, and government initiatives like 'Make in India'. While paper packaging remains dominant, advancements in digital printing and a growing emphasis on flexible and sustainable packaging solutions are shaping the industry's future.

Growth Drivers

Consumer Demand: Increased population, rising incomes, and changing lifestyles have fueled demand for visually appealing and functional packaging to attract consumers.

Sectoral Demand: Strong growth in sectors like pharmaceuticals, food processing, FMCG, and healthcare requires specialized and high-quality packaging.

Government Initiatives: Programs like 'Make in India' have provided a significant impetus to the domestic manufacturing of printing equipment and materials.

Technological Advancements

Digital Printing: The adoption of digital and offset printing technologies is enhancing efficiency, enabling high-quality printing, and supporting demand for customized solutions.

Innovation: Advancements in areas like nanographic printing are also contributing to faster and more cost-effective production processes.

Events Overview
